

Earth Day 2020- The Climate Coalition

To celebrate the 50th anniversary of Earth Day this Wednesday, why not create an eco-friendly heart using whatever natural items you can find on your daily walk?

Here's what to do:

1. Collect some natural materials when out for your regular exercise. Remember to take care and not to pull out any growing flowers or leaves. Instead, use the fallen leaves and petals around you.
2. Arrange them into a heart shape.
3. When you're happy with your design glue it down on a piece of paper.
4. Display your heart in your window as a symbol of resilience and hope for a better, greener and cleaner future.

With a grown-up's permission, take a photo and post it on social media using #EarthDay2020. Also, don't forget to tag in The Climate Coalition!

 @theclimatcoalition  @theccoalition  @theclimatcoalition

You can also download a green heart to put in your window by clicking on this link. <https://tinyurl.com/y73bs4hn>

