

Earth Day 2020- The Climate Coalition

The 50th anniversary of Earth Day is fast approaching. Here are some ways to get crafty and show your love for the world this Wednesday 22nd April. As part of #schoolslinking we think about Where do we live? - and how we can care for the world we live in.

- Create a love heart with whatever items you have in your house. If you don't have any fancy art and craft materials all the better. You can lead the way by being eco-friendly and reusing empty cereal boxes, milk cartons and old cardboard packaging.
- Using a pencil and some paper draw a love heart and in the centre write what you love about the world. Alternatively, you could make some bunting to show your love for the environment.
- The Climate Coalition have created a simple green heart for you to print and cut out at home, as well as an outline to colour in. Download it here. <https://tinyurl.com/y73bs4hn>
- Earth Day is being supported by The Climate Coalition and is aimed at building a better world. We can show our support for creating a cleaner and greener world by displaying our hearts in our windows this Earth Day.
- A great book to read is Here We Are by Oliver Jeffers which you can find on https://www.instagram.com/tv/B_DuZRxA2r/

"I love summer walks because the flowers bloom..."Maleekah
Beckfoot Heaton Primary School

With a grown-up's permission, you could take a photo of your heart and post it on social media using #EarthDay2020 and #ShowTheLove campaign.

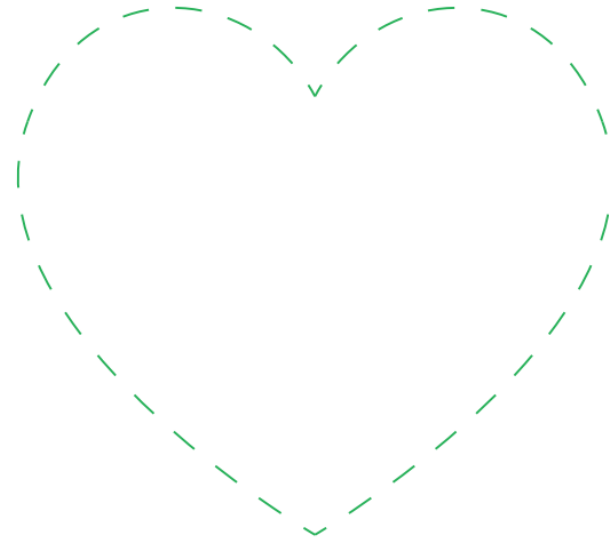

SHOW YOU BELIEVE IN A
CLEANER GREENER FUTURE

Put a green heart in your window for Earth Day

22.04.20

Show that you care about our planet on Earth Day

Decorate this heart in green, cut it out and put it in your window to show that you believe in a cleaner, greener future.

Don't forget to share a photo on social media using #EarthDay2020 and tag The Climate Coalition!

 @theccoalition
  @theclimatecoalition

